Investigate animal related incidents

Overview

This standard covers the investigation of animal related incidents. This would include suspected failure to meet the welfare needs of animals, including abuse, harm or neglect.

It includes receiving and investigating reports, gathering information and taking appropriate action. Where necessary, you will also need to involve the appropriate law enforcement agencies.

The term "keeper" is used to denote the individual responsible for the control and welfare of animals, this may or may not be the owner.

This standard is suitable for those who are responsible for the enforcement of animal welfare legislation by investigating reported abuse, harm or neglect of animals, and working with other law enforcement agencies to support the prosecution of those that have failed to meet the welfare needs of animals.

Those who undertake this role are likely to be working for a recognised body that has responsibility for safeguarding the welfare of animals.
