

SFHFMH12

Manage hostility and risks with non-cooperative individuals, families and carers

Overview

This standard covers the challenging task of influencing and persuading an individual (and perhaps family and carer) who is opposed to or unable to go along with the treatment proposed or unwilling to help shape that treatment. The therapeutic goal of practitioners is to work jointly and collaboratively with the individual through the Care Programme Approach; at times it may not be possible. It is also important to identify the best member of the multidisciplinary team to manage this lack of co-operation.

Users of this standard will need to ensure that practice reflects up to date information and policies.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

- P1 use the agreed clinical approach to managing hostility and risks as decided by the multidisciplinary team
- P2 show that you are willing to enter a discussion with the individual, carer or family member and promote working in partnership with them by initiating conversations (e.g. routinely, when distressing or sensitive issues need to be discussed)
- P3 remind the individual, carer or family member, respectfully, and as often as necessary, of the mechanism by which the individual has been admitted (e.g. under mental health legislation, the decision of the courts) and that the decisions have been made in the name of public safety, their health and their safety
- P4 respond respectfully to individuals, carers and families when they are distressed, angry or fearful
- P5 create opportunities to consider with all parties how their knowledge and experience of the individual can inform and contribute to the care package (e.g. encourage and invite involvement in CPA reviews)
- P6 communicate verbally and non-verbally with the individual, carer or family member in a professional and consistent manner
- P7 identify what formal, therapeutic intervention is needed to address the impact of the events
