

SFHHM23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs

Overview

This standard covers the review of therapeutic and related interventions in relation to promoting recovery and mental health. It involves gathering and collating information relevant to the person's needs, strengths and personal circumstances and evaluating and reviewing these needs and presenting the outcomes of the review to appropriate others including the people concerned and resource holders. The people concerned may be individuals, families, carers, groups or communities and their needs for safety and support may relate to community, family or mental health service settings or contexts.

This standard applies to anyone who works in the mental health sector in a role which requires them to review interventions and identify peoples' needs for safety, support and engagement in relation to developing settings and contexts that promote mental health and to determine the best ways of addressing these needs. Users of this standard will need to ensure that practice reflects up to date information and policies.

SFHM23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

- P1 discuss with people and significant others, in an appropriate manner, level and pace, the options suggested by the review and what this might mean for them in the short, medium and long term
- P2 encourage and support people and significant others to discuss the review outcomes and to engage in a collaborative process aimed at coming to an agreed understanding of the options available
- P3 discuss options for therapeutic interventions which are available and suitable to the person's identified needs and their personal beliefs, strengths and preferences and that support the person to make an informed choice
- P4 provide appropriate help to people who are unable to exercise their rights to make decisions for themselves
- P5 discuss and agree the aims of the therapeutic interventions with the person and significant others in a manner which allows any differences of opinion between the different parties to be reconciled and confirms the person's consent
- P6 agree staged goals in relation to each of the aims with the person and significant others and record these accurately, legibly and completely
- P7 discuss the role of the person and significant others in achieving the aims and goals of the interventions and agree these with all concerned
- P8 agree the location and timing of the interventions with the person and significant others and make the necessary arrangements
- P9 provide the person and significant others with information as to how the interventions will be evaluated and reviewed and agree their role within this process with them
- P10 clarify the information which may be made available to others as a result of the interventions and explain and confirm the person's understanding and agreement to any disclosures called for
- P11 ensure the information you communicate to others on the agreed interventions achieves the best balance between the interests of the person, any risks and the legal duty of care
- P12 pass full and accurate information to those who have overall responsibility for maintaining the quality of service when organisational constraints unduly affect the service to be offered
- P13 actively encourage people and significant others to take a full and active part in the review process consistent with the person's wishes
- P14 identify and take account of the views of other service providers, agencies and practitioners who are in a position to comment

SFHHMH23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs

knowledgeably on the effectiveness of the interventions

- P15 discuss and review the outcomes of the interventions and their effectiveness with people and significant others in an appropriate manner, level and pace
- P16 actively encourage people and significant others to offer their opinions on the interventions and suggest possible modifications
- P17 evaluate the effectiveness of the interventions in relation to the aims and goals agreed at the outset of the programme
- P18 reach agreement with people and significant others as to any changes which need to be made to the interventions
- P19 make accurate, legible and complete records of the review process and outcomes
- P20 share records of the review process, outcomes and agreements reached with those who need to know, consistent with organisational and legal requirements and agreements made with the person

SFHMH23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

- K1 the current national legislation, guidelines and local policies and protocols which affect your work practice
- K2 how to communicate effectively in the appropriate medium to meet any recipients needs and preferences
- K3 how to inform people and significant others of the outcomes and implications of the review in a way which they are likely to understand and which recognises their concerns and interests
- K4 the rights and responsibilities of people to be involved in making decisions which affect them under current legislation and agreed legislation which is in the process of being implemented
- K5 how to recognise when people are not able to exercise their rights to make informed choices and methods of enabling people to exercise their rights effectively - themselves, with your help, or through the use of another
- K6 methods of supporting people to explore the review and any resulting implications
- K7 the different therapeutic options which may be appropriate, their availability and suitability
- K8 the information which is necessary for the review to be carried out effectively
- K9 the different sources of information on the person's needs and strengths and on the effectiveness of the programme in meeting their needs, and how these can be best accessed
- K10 methods of evaluating the effectiveness of the programme as a whole and the different interventions within it, including the various outcomes
- K11 how people and significant others may indicate concerns about the process without making them clear and explicit
- K12 how to listen and hear what the person has to say about the interventions and actively incorporate and respond to the person's views and concerns
- K13 the importance of valuing, recognising, respecting and promoting the diversity, expertise and experience of people with mental health needs and their significant others
- K14 the range of different ways in which the interventions can be altered to meet the needs of people and the ways in which their needs may have changed
- K15 the range of different ways in which the person's own particular strengths, aspirations and resources may have changed in ways relevant

SFHMH23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs to the interventions

- K16 your own values and how these affect your work with people who use services and with other service providers
- K17 methods of recording the outcomes and content of the review process effectively, and the information which is necessary to include

SFHMH23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs

Additional Information

External Links

This standard links with the following dimension within the NHS Knowledge and Skills Framework (October 2004):

Dimension: HWB7 Interventions and treatments

SFHHMH23

Review the effectiveness of therapeutic interventions with people with mental health needs

Developed by	Skills for Health
Version number	2
Date approved	March 2013
Indicative review date	March 2018
Validity	Current
Status	Original
Originating organisation	Skills for Health
Original URN	MH23
Relevant occupations	Healthcare professionals
Suite	Mental Health
Key words	Communication; effective; treatment; therapeutic; planning; recovery; journey; needs; review