

Contribute to the development of priorities and objectives for promoting community justice and social inclusion

Overview

This standard is about the development and agreement of priorities and objectives to promote community justice and social inclusion. It involves the identification of changes and trends in community safety and community justice, and the evaluation of different ways of meeting the identified changes and trends. It entails the use of a range of consultation methods, including focus groups, briefing and debriefing events, questionnaires, group discussions and meetings, and community development forums.

Community justice and social inclusion may be promoted by creating healthy environments and practices, awareness raising, and community action projects delivered through community provision and self-help groups. They may also be promoted through the work of statutory sector services, voluntary sector services, and other services which affect community safety and community justice, such as transport, housing, education.

The range of stakeholders is likely to include other workers in your organisation, workers in other organisations, inter-agency forums, the population under consideration and politicians.

The term 'community' has been used to mean a set of people who are united either by a common geographical location or by a common interest or aspect, such as their work, gender or a disability. These might include groups and organisations, for example, business communities, young people, minority ethnic groups, LGBT community.
