Contribute to the protection of individuals from abuse

Overview

This standard is about protecting individuals from abuse through minimising the level of abuse within environments, minimising the effects of abusive behaviour and monitoring individuals who are at risk from abuse.

Abuse may be emotional, financial, physical, psychological or sexual. Abusive behaviour may be directed at the person themselves, or other people, or the environment.

Individuals at risk from abuse may be those abusing themselves, for example through the use of substances or self-harming behaviours, or those at risk from abuse by another.

In working with offenders you are expected to consistently display the skills of pro-social modelling, offender engagement and professional judgment to encourage offenders to desist from their offending behaviour and to reduce the risk of re-offending.

There are three elements

- 1. Contribute to minimising the occurrence of abuse
- 2. Minimise the effects of abusive behaviour
- 3. Contribute to monitoring individuals who are at risk from abuse

Target group

This standard is aimed at those workers who are in a position to contribute to the protection of individuals from abuse. It is particularly suited to those working within the justice sector, including community and custodial settings.
